

CREMATION AND BURIAL

CREMATION

Many people select cremation as an alternative to burial. Whether before or following the cremation, consider arrangements that allow family and friends to gather in some way to commemorate the person who has died.

The options with cremation are virtually limitless. In fact, there are far more options with cremation than burial.

When you choose cremation, our experts are here to help you understand the many choices available so you can make well-informed decisions. The difference is in the details.

---

We will explain how you can:

- personalize the ceremony
  - select the casket / container
  - memorialization the person who died
  - select a final resting place

We will also provide you information on Turner & Porter's Private Cremation option.

BURIAL

Perhaps your family already owns a cemetery plot where the person who has died will be buried. If not, maybe you've noticed a nice local cemetery. We know which cemeteries are nearby and can help you purchase cemetery plots appropriate for your needs.

When you choose burial, we are here to help you understand the many choices available so you can make well-informed decisions. The difference is in the details.
